Why: We want to learn about how the cleaning industry has changed over the last several years, since the COVID-19 pandemic of 2020 interrupted how we all live and work. To do this, we need to hear from those who worked in commercial cleaning both before and after 2020.

Workers and business owners are the experts when it comes to what is going on in the cleaning industry. The information you share will help guide our work, making sure we are focused on the right issues in order to prevent workplace injuries, develop educational materials, and keep WA cleaners safe and healthy.
